Transformation happens in many ways: Getting to the top and staying on top in the competitive and rapidly changing world of Architecture, Engineering and Construction (A/E/C) services means continually growing, adapting, innovating - in short, transforming. Your strategic plan is an essential element in driving the success and growth of your organization in this competitive environment. It provides the foundation, clarity, and focus for informing those critical business decisions that will drive your success.

Steve Walker of SR Walker & Associates will lead hands-on workshop where you will learn and apply proven tools to help focus and energize your firm, business unit or team with a clear and actionable vision, long term growth initiatives and necessary change agendas. The process you will learn is based on the "Balanced Scorecard" approach developed by Robert Kaplan and David Norton and is currently part of the curriculum at ACEC's Senior Executive Institute.
